To hook interest and recall what theme and summarize mean.

YOU DO

1. Show Slide 1: Finding the Theme: What is this story really about?
2. Say the hook and hold up a blank 4-box comic.
3. Show Slide 2 key words and ask students to explain theme, detail, and summarize.
4. Preview that pairs will shrink a story into 4 boxes and find its message.

STUDENTS DO

1. Look at Slide 1 and predict what finding theme means.
2. Repeat and explain key words from Slide 2 with a partner.
3. Share one idea about what a summary includes.

Say: Can you shrink a whole story into four boxes and still find its big message? Today we are theme detectives. A theme is the big idea about life in a story, and we find it from small details.

Ask: What is a theme? (The big idea about life in a story [7].) · What does it mean to summarize? (Retell the main parts in short order.)

Check understanding: Thumbs up if you can tell theme from summary. If unsure, reread Slide 2 meanings together before moving on.

Support: Point to Slide 2 meanings while students repeat theme and summarize in their own words. Stretch: Ask students to give an example theme word like friendship or perseverance [7].

Use: Slides 1-2

7–19 min Teaching 12 min · Whole class

To teach what theme is and where to look for clues.

YOU DO

1. Show Slide 3 mindmap and explain 5 clue places: what characters say and do, what changes, how it ends, ideas that repeat.
2. Play Slide 5 video to model theme in one sentence and clues in what characters do.
3. Show Slide 6 Steps to Find Theme: Read, Track, Ask.
4. Think aloud how characters pursuing goals reveals the bigger issue [3].

STUDENTS DO

1. List clue places with teacher from Slide 3.
2. Watch video and whisper one clue they heard.
3. Repeat the 3 steps: Read details, Track actions, Ask for repeating life idea.

Say: Stories rarely tell the theme. A theme is a central, unifying idea [3]. We infer it from characters actions [1], because theme can be revealed through what characters do, say, or think [7]. Watch for what repeats and how the ending feels.

Worked example: Watch idea: If a student keeps practicing drums even when bored, detail 1: practices ten minutes every day. Detail 2: keeps tapping after mistakes. Both point to repeating idea of not giving up. Theme sentence: Hard work can turn mistakes into music.

Ask: Where do we find clues to theme? (In characters words, actions, and ending [7].) · Is plot the same as theme? (No. Plot is what happens; theme is what it means [9].) · What repeats that can point to theme? (Repeated images, feelings, or character choices [9].)

Check understanding: Mini-whiteboards: write one place to look for theme clues. Scan; reteach any missing clue type from Slide 3 if needed.

Support: Give clue cards: says, does, learns, ending, repeats to hold up during video. Stretch: Ask students to turn a topic word like honesty into a full theme sentence.

Use: Slides 3, 5-6, Slide 5 (Video clip 1, 0:00-3:24)

To model summarizing then stating theme together.

YOU DO

1. Read aloud Passage The Long Practice paragraphs 1-4 with class following.
2. Play Slide 7 video to model how details point to theme and how to say theme in a sentence.
3. Model a short summary in order, then ask what life idea keeps repeating.
4. Do Worksheet Task F together to order the 4 steps for finding theme.

STUDENTS DO

1. Follow paragraphs 1-4 and call out key actions and changes.
2. Help build the summary sentence by sentence in order.
3. Number the theme steps 1 to 4 for Task F.

Say: First we finish the story and note key details [1]. Then we track what the student does and learns. Last we retell briefly, then state the life idea as a full sentence, not just one word [7].

Worked example: The Long Practice summary: A student wanted to play drums in the concert, practiced slowly every day, then played steady and helped another student. Details that repeat: daily practice, kept going when boring, arms hurt but beat stayed steady. Theme sentence: Practice and never giving up can turn mistakes into success.

Ask: What did the student do that shows the theme? (Practiced ten minutes daily, kept trying, helped another student.) · How is our summary different from our theme? (Summary tells what happened; theme tells big idea about life.)

Check understanding: Vote: which detail best proves our theme sentence? If split, reread paragraphs 2-3 and link action to theme.

Support: Provide summary starter strip: wanted, practiced, in the end played. Stretch: Ask students to suggest a second possible theme and one detail for it.

Use: Slide 7 (Video clip 3, 0:00-1:17), Worksheet Task F, Passage The Long Practice

30–50 min Main activity 20 min · Pairs

To summarize a story in comics and prove its theme with details.

YOU DO

1. Give each pair comic strip paper, pencils, crayons and Passage The Broken Wagon.
2. Direct pairs to read paragraphs 1-4 and draw Worksheet Task B: 4-box summary in order with one short sentence under each.
3. Direct pairs to do Worksheet Task C: finish frame, then add a speech bubble for theme in one full sentence.
4. Circulate, ask which box gave best clue, and prompt proof with two details.

STUDENTS DO

1. Read paragraphs 1-4 together and underline repeated helping actions.
2. Draw 4-box summary in order and write one short sentence under each picture.
3. Write theme as a full sentence and mark two proving details.

Say: Read the wagon story with your partner and find its theme. Draw the beginning, middle, and end in four boxes. Then write the big message in a speech bubble. Point to the box that gave the best clue.

Worked example: Box 1: sister and little brother love old red wagon. Box 2: wheel breaks, brother says fix together. Box 3: hold wheel, tighten bolts, share and take turns. Box 4: wagon rolls straight, helping each other made hard job fun. Theme: Working together can make a hard job easier.

Ask: Which repeating details point to your theme? (Pulled home together, held steady, tightened bolts, shared and took turns.) · Why is your sentence a theme, not just a topic? (It is a full message about life, not just a word like teamwork; a concept is a word while a statement is a full sentence [7].)

Check understanding: Pairs trade comics and check if evidence matches theme sentence. If not, add or fix one detail together.

Support: Let students use the frame: Someone wanted ___, then ___, in the end ___. Stretch: Students add a title that hints at the theme without giving away the ending.

Use: Worksheet Tasks B-C, Passage The Broken Wagon, Slide 9

50–60 min Plenary 10 min · Whole class

To compare themes and check summary and theme understanding.

YOU DO

1. Display 2-3 comics and ask class to link setting and actions to theme; an isolated place can highlight loneliness and hard work can highlight perseverance [7].
2. Show Slide 10 question and lead think, pair, share on different themes being right.
3. Show Slide 11 quick quiz on what theme is and where clues are found.
4. Restate objectives and collect comics with Task B-C.

STUDENTS DO

1. Share comics and point to best clue box.
2. Think, pair, share if two different themes can both be right.
3. Answer quiz questions aloud and show theme sentence frames.

Say: Good readers can find different themes and both be right if details prove it. Summary stays close to events in order. Theme says what the story means and needs details as proof. Tell me your theme and your proof.

Ask: Can two readers find different themes and both be right? Why? (Yes, if each theme is backed by text details; there is no single exact answer.) · What is the difference between summary and theme? (Summary is short retell in order; theme is big idea with details as proof.)

Check understanding: Exit tickets on whiteboards; if many confuse topic and theme, reteach one-word topic versus full-sentence message tomorrow.

Support: Provide theme-sentence frame: This story shows that ___ because ___. Stretch: Ask students to explain how changing one repeated detail would change the theme.

Use: Slides 10-11

Common mistakes

Mistake	How to spot it	How to fix it
Writing a topic word like friendship instead of a theme message	Bookmark or bubble has one word with no message	Stretch concept into statement: a concept is a word, a statement is a full sentence [7]; add what story says about friendship.
Writing a summary retell instead of theme	Answer only tells what happened in order with no life idea	Use Slide 9 compare: summary tells what happens, theme tells big idea; ask What did characters learn about life? [3]
Using one detail or no proof for theme	Theme sentence has no underlined repeat or action linked	Hunt for repeated ideas and character actions that infer theme [1][9]; add two short details as proof.

Support

- Use 3-sentence summary frame: Someone wanted ___, then ___, in the end ___.
- Pre-highlight one repeated feeling or action to model hunting repeats.
- Provide word bank: friendship, honesty, teamwork, perseverance and theme frame: This story shows

Stretch

- Add a title that hints at the theme without giving away the ending.
- Add best proving detail and explain why it fits strongest.
- Compare two theme ideas and choose which has stronger text details.
