Three Jobs in Sentences

Words have jobs. A conjunction connects words, phrases, or clauses. A preposition shows place or time. An interjection shows strong feeling.

- Conjunction joins equals: and adds, but shows contrast, or gives a choice.
- Conjunction joins reason or time: because, when, if link a smaller part to the main part.
- Preposition shows where or when: under the table, after lunch.
- Interjection shows surprise: Wow! Ouch! Hey! It uses an exclamation point.

Task A

/4

Find 4 mistakes. Fix the joining words and ending marks.

Wow hid under the table and it rained. A strong but warm breeze blew across the desert. It rained, we stayed inside. We was tired but we finished.

There are 4 mistakes.
